

A celebration to welcome freshman students

A celebration to welcome freshman students was held by Azzulfi College, Thursday morning (the eleventh of Jumada Alula of the current year - 435/04/11-) at the auditorium of Azzulfi colleges. It's worth mentioning that a whole program was prepared by the college for this event. The program was started by some verses from the Holy Quran read by a freshman student. Next, a brief speech representing the freshman students was given. That was followed by a visual documentary presentation that was meant to get the new students to know their college and its achievements during the previous years. Then, the Dean of the College delivered a speech, which he started by thanking Allah for the blessing of safety and settlement bestowed on this country. He also thanked the government, lead by the Custodian of the Holy Mosques - May Allah protect him- , the Crown Prince and the Second Deputy Premier who cared greatly about education. He thanked as well the Rector of the University, Khaled bin Saad Al-Muqren. In addition, he addressed the freshman students who have just left secondary school to join a broader level of education, which requires them to be self-confident, trust whatever Allah has given them of mental abilities, and work hard. Finally, he thanked all the audience.

After that, the Vice Dean for Academic Affairs delivered a speech, in which he clarified a lot of academic issues for students, mentioning all that matters for students in this new phase of their lives. Furthermore, The Vice Dean of Student Affairs spoke after that and gave a chance for students to participate and ask questions. Eventually, they all headed for the food and drinks avenue, which was prepared for their habitability, and took a tour around the colleges. Moreover, briefcases containing some guiding books and tokens were given to all students
